Grant sought to study feasibility of regional visitors center here

By ALISON ALOISIO

Supporters of an initiative to build a new regional visitor center in Bethel are seeking a federal grant to fund a feasibility study.

On Monday, however, Bethel selectmen were reluctant to provide a letter of support for the grant application.

The Androscoggin Valley Council of Governments is applying for the grant, "to work on the visitor center concept and improvements to the gateway," in the words of Ferg Lea, AVCOG's planning director.

The Rural Business Opportunity Grant would provide approximately $45,000, primarily for a feasibility study, Lea said.

He said the idea for a center was born last year out of regional envisioning meetings organized by the Maine

Department of Economic and Community Development and hosted by Sunday River Ski Resort.

The meetings drew state and local officials, as well as representatives from organizations and businesses.

No specific location for a center has been formally targeted, but, said Lea,

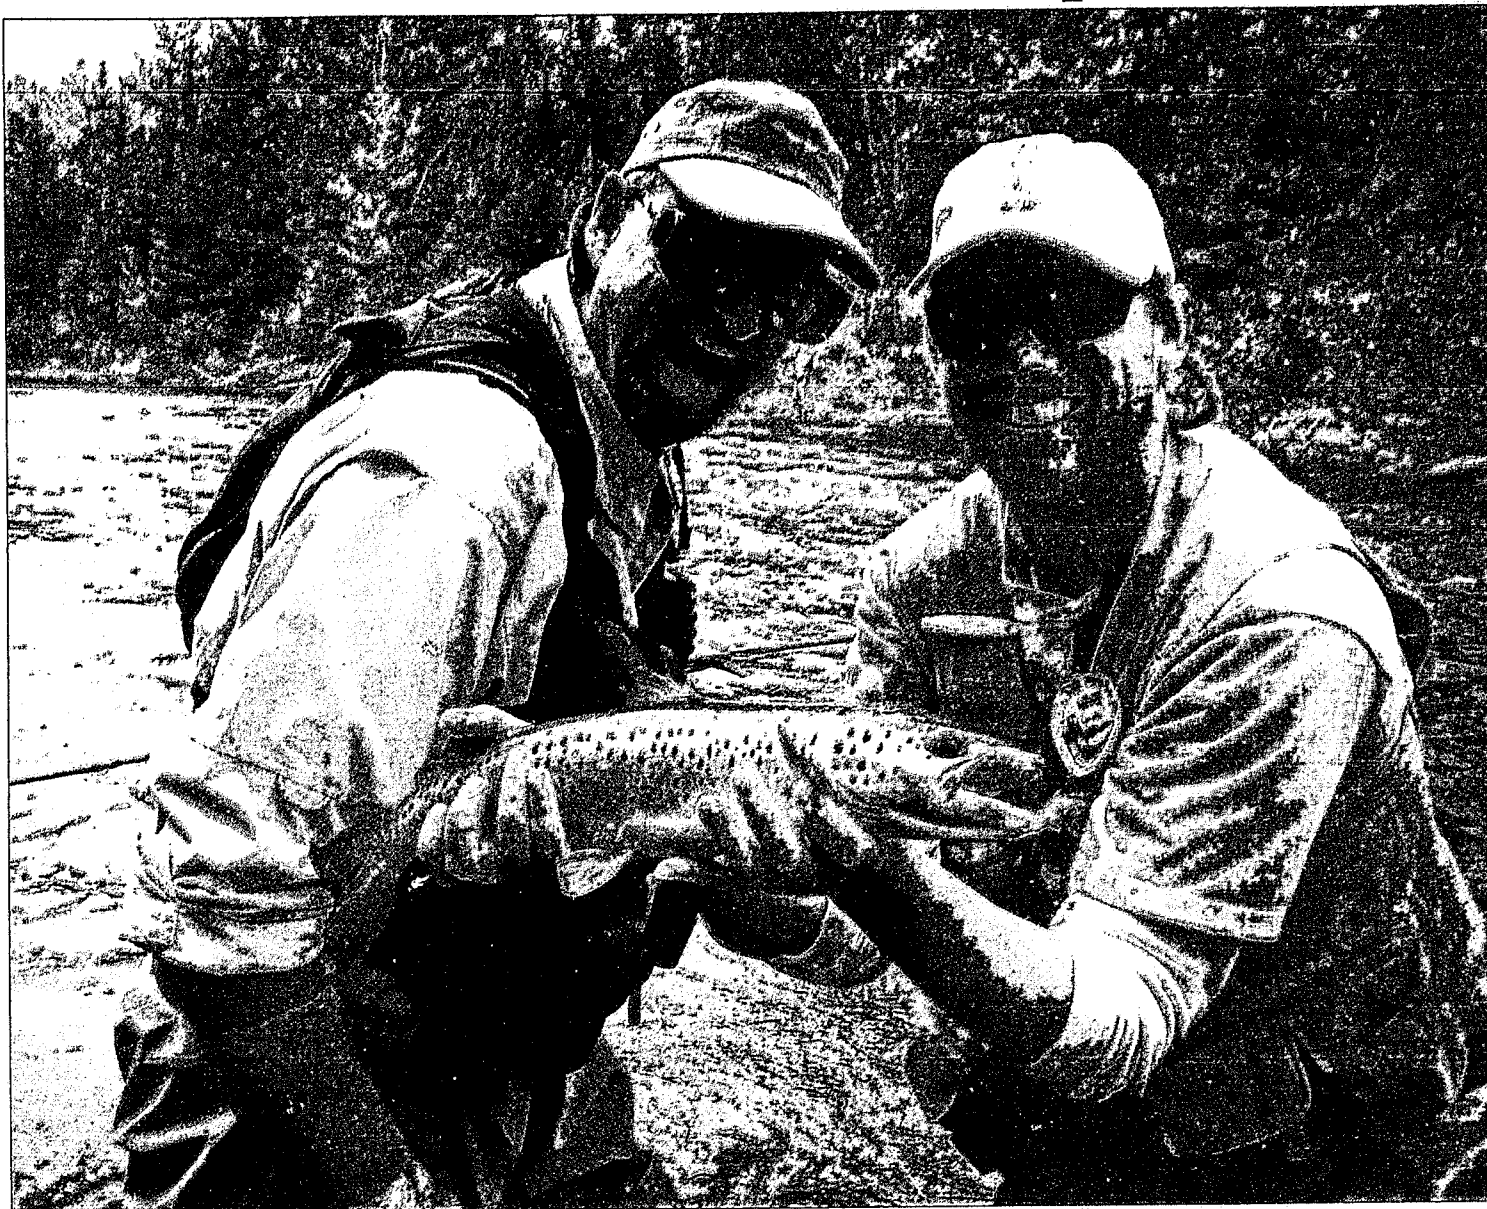

But Bethel Board balks

"The grant presupposes that the center will be walkable to Bethel down town, and the grant included some planning for improvements to the gateway area to the downtown in addition to the center.

"The idea is to make the entrance more attractive and integrate the walkability of the Bethel Station area, the downtown and the center. But that does not mean that the center has to be right in the Davis

SAD44 directors confront shrinking budget options

By ALISON ALOISIO

Faced with a possible $681,000 cut in state aid next year, SAD44 school directors began Monday to look at their options.

Because there is still no decision by the state Legislature on whether the district will have to pay a penalty for its failed bid to consolidate with another school system, the board must assume, for now, that the penalty will apply.

It would take the form of a loss of approximately $185,000 in state aid. For purposes of the board's budget planning, the penalty is included in the $681,000 figure.

Supt. Dave Murphy presented three possible budget scenarios Monday. He stressed they are very preliminary.

Possibilities range from holding the budget at this year's $10.2 million level — and making up the entire difference in state aid locally — to cutting nearly $500,000 from the budget.

Simply holding the current line and passing the shortfall on to taxpayers, said Murphy, didn't get much play on the board's Finance Committee. The committee provided input to administrators before

Closing Ethel Bisbee site not currently on the table

By ALISON ALOISIO

As Monday's SAD44 school budget presentation wound down, Bethel director Lynn Arizzi asked if closing the Ethel Bisbee building might be considered.

The old school serves as SAD44's administrative office, and also provides space for the District Exchange clothing shop and food pantry.

Arizzi said closing the building and moving the offices/activities elsewhere might save money to preserve teaching positions.

Murphy said such a move was not on the current list of options.

And while a shutdown would save on utilities, he said, "you'd create another issue the board would have to deal with. There are other implications besides just closing it for school uses."

Local anglers play many roles in 'ExNE,' new DVD celebrating N'east fly fishing

By MICHAEL DANIELS

"Fish more and you'll live longer," says Charlie Lowe, at the end of "ExNE," a new DVD celebrating fly fishing in the Northeast.

Lowe, pushing 70 and still hauling them in, would get no argument from the dozen or so Bethel area folks who helped bring the DVD to the screen, including Luke Gray, Stewart Mason, Jen Percival, Stephanie Percival, Rik Dow, Rocky Freda, Nate Harvey, Erik Melanson, Mitch Cummings and Mike Jones.

ExNE was produced by Gray-ghost Productions, whose co-founder Carter Davidson grew up in Bethel, attending Crescent Park School, Telstar Middle School, and graduating from Gould Academy in 1993.

Davidson describes Gray-

host as "an outdoor adventure production company."

The company's latest production is a 70-minute tour of fly-fishing hotspots stretching from the nearby Androscoggin River, to the Upper Magalloway, Winterport, nearby

Canada, and even downtown Lewiston — where seriously large northern pike now patrol glistening rapids that were not that long ago open chemical sewers.

And as a cure for the Northeast's winter blahs, a side trip is thrown in to tiny ("one hotel, three bars") Anegada in the British Virgin Islands, where the flats abound with bonefish.

For hard-core adventure fans, there's even the forcible abduction of a headlocked cef

Time Warner's call for support gets mixed responses

By MICHAEL DANIELS

It is not at all uncommon for the Bethel and Newry boards of selectmen to view local questions through very different glasses, and a recent request from Time Warner Cable is no exception.

Time Warner has asked several local towns to support its effort to have the Maine Public Utilities lift the so-called "rural exemption" that prohibits companies like Time Warner from offering digital telephone service to customers of Oxford West (which provides land-line telephone service).

The Bethel selectmen think that's a fine idea, and they voted unanimously Monday to send a letter in support of Time Warner's effort.

The Newry selectmen, however, say "no way."

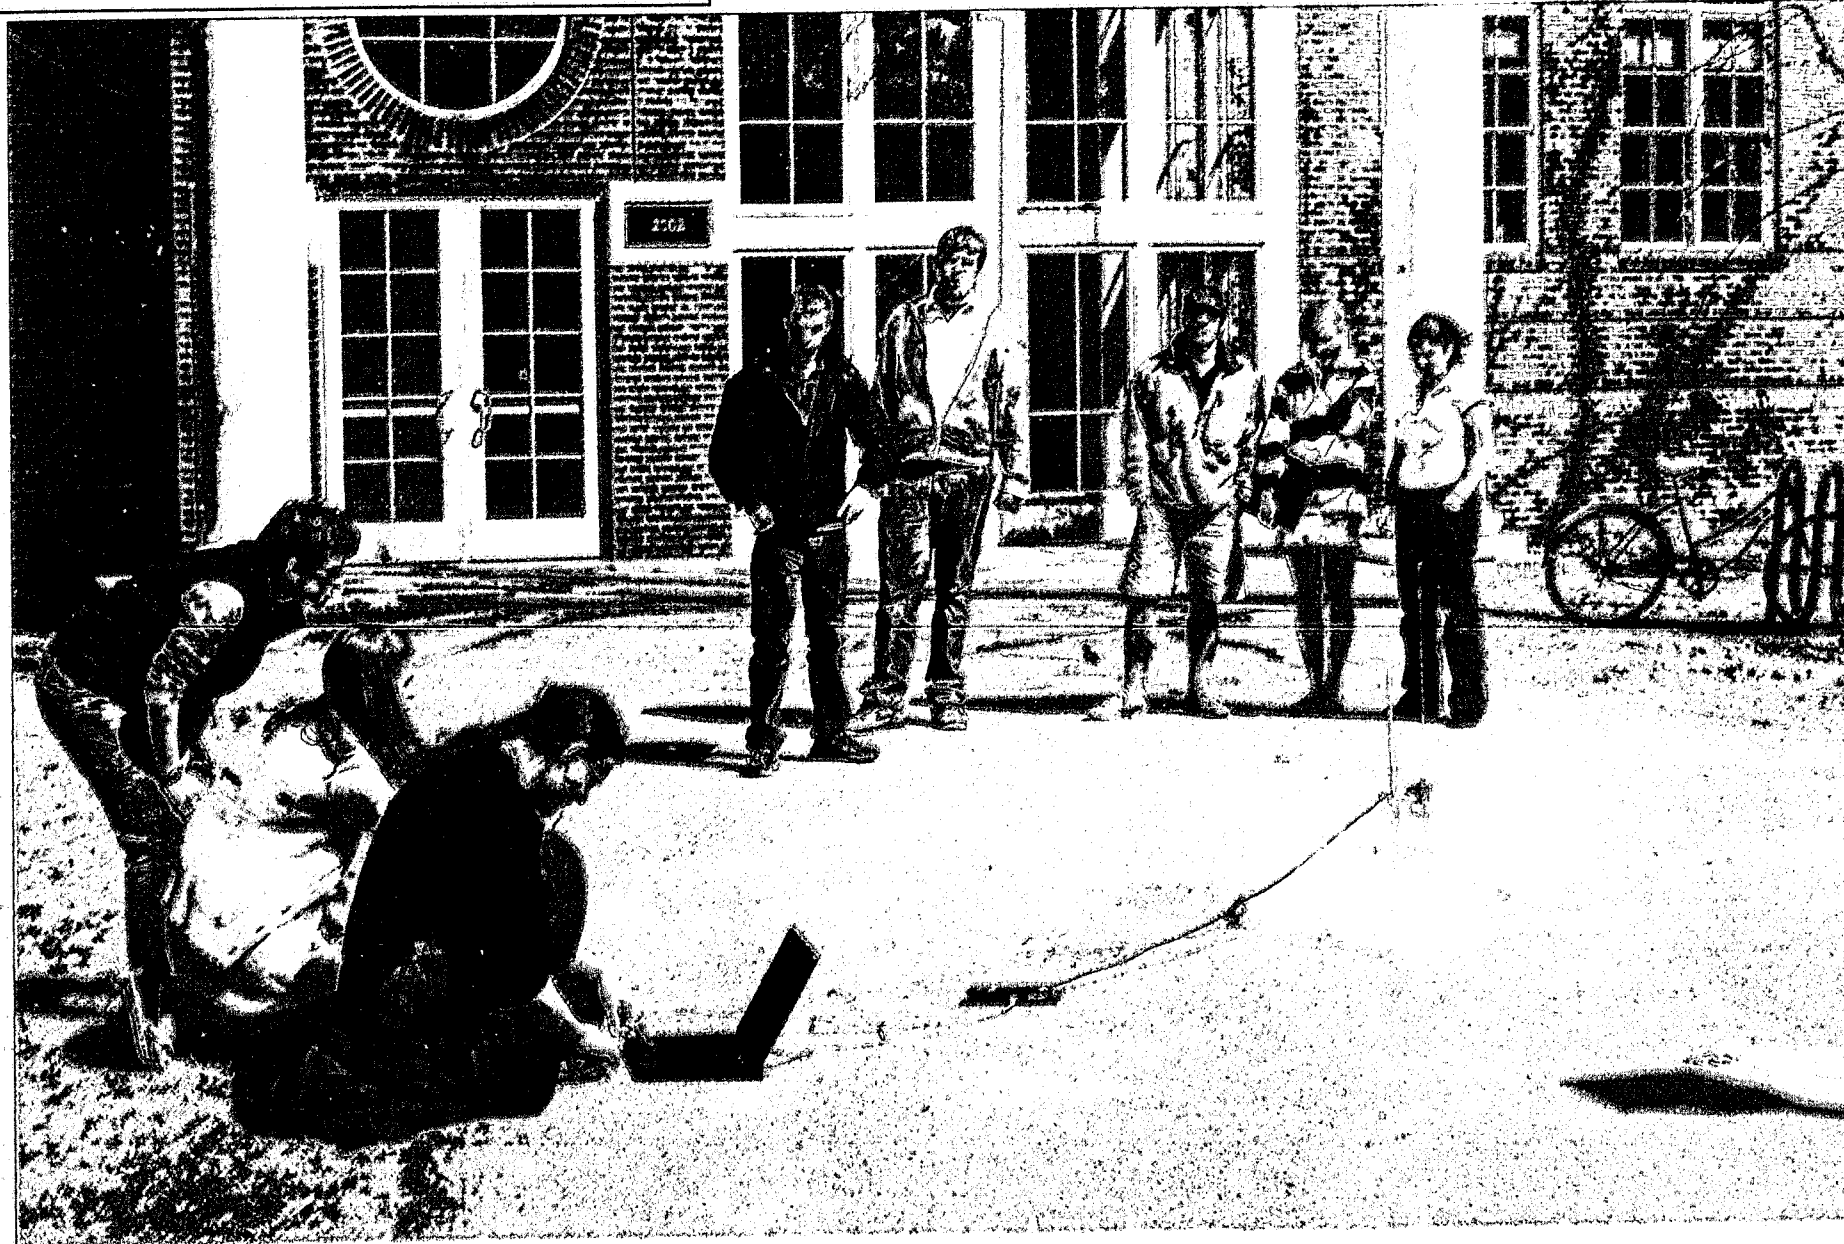

Shared frustration

But while the two outcomes are very different, the reason that led to them is the same — neither board is at all happy with aspects of the communications service it currently receives.

In the case of Bethel, the dissatisfaction is twofold. The selectmen are unhappy with both Oxford West's speed in addressing chronic problems with shallowly buried telephone lines, and with the

GILEAD AMENDMENT FOLLOW-UP

To the Editor:

The letter to the editor dated April 9, 2008 titled Amendment Reasoning that addressed the actions of our public officials at the Gilead Town Meeting March 28, 2009 did not answer the question of the legality of amending the articles in the Town Report at the Town Meeting.

In the article it was stated that the answer to this question by our state Rep. Jarrod Crockett was that the town can allocate the amount, they cannot add a new line (i.e. the new position), without a special Town Meeting (observing all the proper notice requirements to create the assistant position).

Apparently the citizens did not understand this statement, because a vote was taken and the amendment was passed.

The article also said that this process prevents the question from becoming "ripe" for litigation because there is no harmed or prejudiced party, but allows for the will of the citizenry (through a majority vote to determine the future of the town).

His reference to the state of Maine in its Constitution and Statutes recognizes the need for governance by local municipalities and that it is evidenced in Title 30-A section 3001 (1) (2) where liberal construction is required for the application of statutes limiting a town's authority as well as establishing a presumption of authority for a town's actions.

I have looked up this title and it is in reference to the Home Rule authority of towns concerning the creating of ordinances for land use, not, can we amend articles in the Town Report at the Town Meeting, which was the question.

The Maine Moderators Manual, along with many other manuals provided to towns, is written in simple language to help the common people, which are most of the people that are elected in small towns, better understand the rules and procedure of our public officials and the legal issues concerning the town.

It does not change statutes or legal principles.

DO YOU RECALL CARL HAGEN?

To the Editor:

Was given The Citizen's address via the article sent to me, by a classmate, regarding the tallest snowman. In Mississippi, we get very little snow, and I believe he sent me this e-mail as a joke.

Little does he know how exciting it was to realize that, yes, there is a Bethel, Maine, and everything is up and going!

My husband, Carl, lived in Bethel in 1954-1955. He spoke of fishing on the Sunday River, and he had some slides of the area, taken as he worked the timber for a gentleman, who's full name I do not recall — last name was Chadburne, I believe. At any rate, even though I have never been in Bethel, I am familiar with it.

My purpose in writing is to ask assistance from anyone who may recall Carl, and can give me an interesting, or humorous, tidbit about his time there.

As Carl has passed away, I have found it a most comforting effort to complete a scrapbook of his life for our grandchildren. We often are not aware of how little they know of our past; for instance, at his funeral when the youngest one saw the flag over the coffin, he remarked he didn't know his Grandpa had been in the Navy!

So, if it is possible, would you please ask around, and have anyone who remembers him to get in touch with me. Incidentally, another name I am recalling is Albert Foy. Carl roomed with them while living in Bethel.

Thank you for allowing me to express my wishes, and I've already thanked my classmate.

MAINE HANDICAPPED THANKS

To the Editor:

Another successful winter season at Maine Handicapped Skiing has just been wrapped up this past weekend, with the 4th Annual Volunteer Appreciation Dinner held at the Jackson-Silver Legion Hall in Locke Mills Sunday evening.

In winter, volunteers help teach individuals with physical disabilities Nordic and alpine skiing and snowboarding in four locations: Sunday River, Sugarloaf, the Sunday River Inn and Cross Country Center and Pineland Farms.

At season's end all volunteers are invited to the dinner for a great meal, camaraderie and awards.

The Legion Hall is a great location and facility to hold the dinners for the volunteers; and also the dinner for the Veterans/No Boundaries program of Maine Handicapped Skiing.

For three years now Boy Scout Troup 565 from Bethel has helped with setup and cleanup for the meal.

This year nine scouts were on hand for the job, worked very hard and their efforts are truly appreciated.

With summer on its way Maine Handicapped Skiing will be gearing up to get participants cycling, paddling and playing golf.

Many thanks to all those in the Bethel area for their support of our programs.

Program Director, Maine Handicapped Skiing

CHAMBER AWARDS NIGHT 2009

To the Editor:

The Bethel Area Chamber of Commerce is excited to take the opportunity to recognize a business that has made significant strides in the past year, deserving community activists, a forest products industry entrepreneur, and excellent employees who have made extraordinary contributions to their workplaces.

On Friday, May 8, the 40th Anniversary Bethel Area Chamber of Commerce Awards Dinner, sponsored by W.J. Wheeler & Co., Inc. Oxford Networks, and Sunday River Ski Resort, will be held at the Grand Summit Hotel at Sunday River. Cost is $88 per person for a complete buffet dinner or $325 for a business sponsoring a table for 8 (with added marketing and PR benefits.) For reservations, call the chamber office, 824-2282, no later than Monday, May 4. Payment options include credit cards, check, or cash, and prepayment is required. Social hour begins at 6 p.m. accompanied by a silent auction, featuring dozens of items donated by chamber members and friends. The dinner will be served promptly at 7 p.m.

Chosen by the Awards Committee, we are pleased to announce and congratulate the following business and individuals for their selection as recipients this year.

The Rooster's Roadhouse, and owners Steve Etheridge and Gary Szpara are being presented the 2009 Business of the Year Award. Gary and Steve are being recognized for their extraordinary support of many local causes and nonprofits as well as being named a very popular "locals" restaurant. They saw an unmet need in the community and have created a very popular business as a result.

The 2009 Forest Products Industry Award will be given to Ross Timberlake. S. Timberlake Co. was started by Sam, Nan and Ross back in 1974 and thus is one of the longest running family-owned wood products businesses in the area. From the development of the product line and customer base, to marketing the products online to reach a global customer base, Ross has been an integral part of the continued success of the business, even in challenging economic times. He is also very involved in the community with the Bethel Performing Arts Project, the Senior Players, and the Bethel Area Chamber of Commerce Board of Directors.

The 2009 Lifetime Achievement Award is being presented to Barbara Douglass. Barbara and her late husband, Dana, were prominent business owners in Bethel for several decades. During her life in Bethel she devoted considerable energy to organizations including Stephens Memorial Hospital Auxiliary, the Bethel Historical Society, West Parish Congregational Church, the NTL Liaison Committee, the Bethel Family Health Center and the Bethel Area Chamber of Commerce. Her volunteer energy has seemed limitless, even in recent years when she has gotten to the point that she needed to sell tickets from her chair!

Roger Beaudoin, co-owner of the Matterhorn Ski Bar will be presented the President's Award for his devotion and service to the Bethel Area Chamber of Commerce. Roger has served on the chamber's Board for nearly six years; and he is the immediate past president of the Board of Directors. Donating so many hours to chamber work, he has served on the Marketing Committee, has been our Duck-Meister, spearheaded our Corvette Show, and has been a tremendous help on many other chamber projects.

The 2009 Public Service Award will be presented to Loretta Powers of Newry. Loretta has been an employee of the town for 10 years, with five of it in the position of Town Administrator. She is a dedicated leader, willing to take on any task asked of her and doing an exemplary job in the process. Retta has been an advocate of using technology to the town's advantage, and has improved the systems as a result. Never seeking recognition but deserving it, the chamber is pleased to provide the forum to thank her.

In its second year, the Bethel Area Non-Profit Award will be given to Jacquelyn Cressy of Bethel. Among Jackie's contributions to the nonprofit community is her leadership role in organizing and nurturing the Western Mountains Senior College. Additionally, Jackie's involvement in Bethel's Conservation Commission spans 10 years, four years on the board of Western Mountains Alliance and active involvement in many of the committees of the Bethel Area Chamber of Commerce, including the Non-Profit Task Force.

The chamber presents Employee of the Year Awards in four categories. Receiving the 2009 Education Award is Norma Salway, a 34-year veteran employee of SAD4. Norma started in the district in 1974 as an Ed. Tech before returning to college to receive her full teaching degree. Upon returning to Bethel, Norma served as a Kindergarten teacher for ten years, and then most recently First Grade for 12 years. Hundreds of children have been the positive beneficiaries of her exemplary teaching during her tenure as an educator. Amy Bennett, a 17-year veteran of Bethel's Best Pizza Grille and Dairy Bar is being presented the Hospitality Employee of the Year. Amy was hired as a 15 year old by former owner, Rick Breaux, in the early 1990s and has been a faithful employee since then. Her culinary talents have been appreciated by both the local clientele and the thousands of travelers who have been fortunate to stop in to this roadside restaurant over the years. Amy is well respected by the owners and her fellow employees. Receiving the 2009 Retail & Service Employee of the Year is Chris Martin of True North Adventureware. Owner Jonathan Goldberg describes Chris as "the most loyal, dedicated, and hard-working employee that one could hope for." Chris's personal knowledge of the products, since he uses most of them in his recreational pursuits, is extraordinary. His customer service is legendary and he is definitely the "go-to" person for advice on hiking or activities in the area. He has worked every Christmas Eve and "Black Friday" since he began his employment, a testimony to his loyalty. The 2009 Ski Industry Employee of the Year Award is being presented this year to Pete Murphy of Mt. Abram Resort. Nominated by owner Matt Hancock, Pete is described as "a dynamic and integral part of the Mt. Abram culture and friendly environment." His playful demeanor and incredible service with the guests is a wonderful attribute for someone who is always on time and totally attentive to his work. He does his job with total joy, which he passes on to each guest he serves.

The chamber presents three Telstar High School students with awards. Alan Scott Hadley of West Paris, son of Dale Hadley and Tammy Bean, is receiving the Taste of Bethel Award in his pursuit of post-secondary training in Culinary Arts. Alan has been accepted to both S.M.C. and the Maine Army National Guard. Two students will be presented with Student Citizenship Awards: Brianna Elizabeth Douglass, daughter of Brent and Shelley Douglass of Albany and Patrick Michael Joseph Gallagher, son of Tom and Elizabeth Gallagher of Bryant Pond. These three students were selected by the staff at Telstar High School and have been cited in exemplifying the highest qualities of school and community citizenship.

The 2009 Henry H. Hastings Award for Citizenship is being presented to Leslie B. Otten. The Hastings Award is named in honor of the late Henry Hastings, a prominent attorney, businessman, and community leader for several decades in the mid-1900s. Les Otten is the kind of individual Mr. Hastings would be honored to add to the distinguished list of recipients receiving this award in the past 40 years.

Les Otten has been creating jobs and working to promote business and tourism in Maine for the last 37 years. His life's work has been devoted to business development and charitable giving in Maine and across the country. In 1973, Les was put in charge of Sunday River ski resort at the age of 23 and was the youngest ski operation manager in the country. In 1980 Les purchased Sunday River, and his company, LBO Resort Enterprises, grew to form the American Skiing Company. From 2002 through 2007, Les was vice chairman and minority partner of the Boston Red Sox. He is credited with saving Fenway Park by leading the charge to renovate the beloved Park rather than build a whole new stadium in Boston. In 2004, the Red Sox won their first World Series Championship since 1918 while Les was part of the ownership group.

In 2008, Les manifested his interest in wood to energy and getting Maine off its dependence on foreign oil by founding a new company, Maine Energy Systems, which is involved with sales and distribution of wood pellets and wood-pellet boilers. In that same year, Les was asked by Governor John E. Baldacci to chair the Governor's Wood-to-Energy Task Force, which was charged with finding ways to reduce the state's reliance on foreign oil and stimulate Maine's economy by developing renewable sources of energy made in Maine, by Maine businesses, for Maine people.

Aside from his many business dealings over the years, Les has volunteered his time and resources to charitable causes. Les founded Maine Handicapped Skiing with Omar D. ("Chip") Crothers, M.D. to ensure access to and participation in the recreational sports that are integral to a well-rounded life for every person. Les co-founded and acted as first chairman of the Western Mountains Alliance. The Western Mountains Alliance was founded to help the wood products and manufacturing industries, and local communities in western Maine seek new economic development opportunities to offset a two-decade-long exodus of manufacturing jobs from the region. In 1990, Les co-founded and served as the first chairman of the Economic Environmental Council of Maine, which merged with the Maine Chamber to become the Maine Chamber Alliance, where Les also served as the first chair of that organization. The goal of these organizations was to create an environment where the needs of the paper industry could find middle ground with the environmental concerns of Maine citizens.

Les is also past chairman and current Board of Trustees member of the Portland Museum of Art. Locally, in 1988 Les started Project Opportunity, a Grant and Scholarship Program benefiting Telstar Regional High School students, particularly the late bloomers. For the past five years, Les has served as chairman of the Jeremiah Cromwell Center for Disabilities Awareness and is passionate that people with all types of disabilities deserve the same dignity, inclusion, and respect that every person deserves as a birthright. Les will be honored this year as the Cromwell Center Person of the Year for 2009.

Volunteer of the Year and two other special awards will be presented that evening. The emcee of the event will be Dr. Harry "Dutch" Dresser of Bethel.

Once again, all community members are welcome to RSVP by May 4 to 824-2282, to reserve a seat at this wonderful celebration.

Robin Zinchuk
Executive Director, Bethel Area Chamber of Commerce

Sunday River employee charged with endangering welfare of his child

By M. DIRK LANGEVELD
Sun Media Group

A 25-year-old Greenwood man was arrested Wednesday evening, April 8, on charges that he twice left his 2-year-old daughter unattended in a Sunday River Ski Resort office while he went snowboarding and to a bar.

Bryan S. Nason, 24, of Howe Hill Road, was charged with two counts of endangering the welfare of a child as well as charges out of Androscoggin County. He was released from the Oxford County Jail on Friday afternoon.

According to a report by Trooper Jason Wing of the Maine State Police, security at the resort reported on March 23 that Nason left his daughter in an office while he went snowboarding and out to a bar on March 19 and 20.

Wing stated that Nason left a note on the office door reading, "There is a child in here sleeping. If you need to come in please be quiet. I am not neglecting her. I come to check on her every 10-15 minutes. I am an employee without a vehicle."

Wing said Nason was employed at the resort but was not working on the two days and was fired after the report.

Wing also contacted the Department of Health and Human Services officials, who said they would open a case and forbid Nason to have contact with the girl without supervision.

Nason was arrested at the Mobil station in Poland on Wednesday after agreeing to meet with Wing, who had been trying to contact him.

Wing pleaded guilty to operating after revocation and violation of conditions of release in Androscoggin County in February 2008, and was sentenced to serve nine months of an 18-month sentence with 18 months of probation and a $1,000 fine.

At his initial appearance in the South Paris District Court on Friday, Nason pleaded not guilty to the child endangerment charges. Judge Paul Cote granted him personal recognition bail.

Smoking limitation bill considered

AUGUSTA— A bill modeled after a Portland ordinance that limits smoking on restaurant decks and patios is on its way to the Maine House with a committee's endorsement. Rep. Joan Cohen's bill has received the support of a majority of the Health and Human Services Committee. The Portland Democrat's original bill sought to prohibit smoking at restaurants' outdoor public dining areas until 10 p.m., but public health advocates urged the committee to lengthen the ban to 24 hours per day. The bill goes to the Maine House for a vote and then faces a Senate vote.

Inspection stickers stolen

PORTLAND— Thieves in Maine's largest city are stealing vehicle inspection stickers right off the windshield. Portland police say they are investigating at least 35 reports of stolen stickers in recent months. Lt. Tony Ward told the Portland Press Herald that the thieves typically smash a side window to gain entry. They then use a hand-held blowtorch to heat up the windshield to loosen the sticker's glue and free the sticker from the glass. It costs $18 for a vehicle inspection, and officials speculate that thieves are selling the stickers at a premium to people who are unable to get legitimate stickers without spending hundreds or thousands of dollars in repairs.

Bill would reduce plastic bag waste

AUGUSTA— The Natural Resources Committee has unanimously agreed to an amended version of a bill sponsored by Senator John Nutting, D-Leeds, aimed at reducing the amount of plastic bag waste that ends up in landfills or ultimately in the waste stream. The new amended bill creates a working group that will include a number of participants including Hannaford, Maine Department of Environmental Protection, Maine Grocers Association, Maine Merchants Association, Maine Oil Dealers, Maine State Chamber of Commerce, Natural Resources Council of Maine, the Plastic Bag Institute, and Wal-Mart. The ultimate goal of the working group is to develop a viable solution to reducing plastic bag waste. Some of the group's duties will be to design a regional pilot program that includes a current assessment of current Maine law governing waste reduction, and future goals for reductions. The working group must report back to the Legislature its findings by Jan. 15.

In our back yard: Compact Fluorescent Lamps

Both environmental agencies and energy agencies across the nation have been encouraging people to replace their incandescent bulbs with compact fluorescent lamps. But why stop with just the bulb? How about the whole fixture? If you are building a new building, adding on to an existing one, or doing some remodeling, consider buying a compact fluorescent light fixture that contains a built-in ballast so that many years down the road, when you finally have to replace the bulb, you do not have to replace the ballast as well.

All fluorescent lights have a ballast. In the old days, back when fluorescent lights made people look green, the ballast was what gave the fluorescent light the annoying buzz whenever it was turned on. The old ballasts were also responsible for the 5 to 10 second's worth of flash and flicker it took to get the fluorescent lamp going before a steady glow was obtained. And the old ballasts contained polychlorinated biphenyls (PCBs), a dangerous chemical that was banned in 1979, does not break down in the environment, and can cause disruption of the human immune, reproductive, and endocrine systems. Today's electronic ballasts do not contain PCBs and have eliminated almost all of the noise and start-up problems of the old ballasts. However, they still contain many environmental contaminants that should be kept out of the waste stream.

Hold a compact fluorescent lamp with a screw-in base that is meant to replace your incandescent bulb and you will notice it is much heavier than the incandescent bulb and it has a big ceramic or metal section between the screw-in base and the curlicue, glass bulb. That ceramic or metal section contains the ballast needed to operate the fluorescent light bulb. When the bulb finally burns out, you have to dispose of both the bulb and the ballast. But if you had a fluorescent light fixture, then the fluorescent bulb that goes in that fixture would have four pins in the bottom of the bulb, instead of the screw-in base. The fluorescent bulb would be very light because the ballast is no longer with the bulb, it is in the fixture. Years later, when the bulb finally burns out, you only remove the bulb for recycling. The ballast remains to operate the next bulb and remains out of the waste stream.

HIGH TENSION LINES—Approximately 200 CMP customers in the Rowe Hill area were without power for about five hours Sunday evening, after a wind-blown snag crashed to the road, breaking some wires and coming to rest suspended on another. The resulting tension buckled the pole to the right, which crews had to replace. Here, the Greenwood Fire Department closes off the road (another truck was uphill of the scene) while waiting for the CMP crew to arrive.

Center

Park area — the gateway to the downtown.

Purpose

Lea was not at Monday's meeting, but he provided the Bethel selectmen with a written account of the rationale for the grant application.

He described various natural and heritage resources in the region: the White Mountain National Forest, Umbagog National Wildlife Refuge, the Appalachian Trail, the Androscoggin River, Grafton Notch State Park, historic areas, Sunday River Resort, Bethel Inn, Black Mountain and ATV/snowmobiling trails.

But, he said, studies have shown that "steps must be taken to move the region from its present status as an underutilized, regional tourist attraction to a world-class destination."

Steps would include improvements to cultural and heritage offerings, signage, marketing customer service and the presentation of amenities and attractions, Lea said.

A "Heritage and Outdoor Recreation Center" would address those needs, he said, as well as provide "physical improvements needed to integrate the center into the area's heritage and outdoor recreation, attractions, namely the Historic Bethel Village, the Androscoggin River Trail, and the bicycle, pedestrian and snowmobile trails that come together at the southerly entrance to Bethel Village, an area that serves as the southerly gateway to the entire Ma-hoosuc region."

And, said Lea, "a significant part of the project will be working with local businesses to determine how the center can best serve their marketing needs."

The center would also provide information services for all of Maine and northern New Hampshire, Lea said.

The feasibility study would try to pinpoint a location for the facility, he said.

Selectmen: little comment

Bethel Town Manager Scott Cole presented a written request to selectmen from Lea for a letter of support for the grant application.

"These have a way of becoming unpopular," said Cole. "I don't know, maybe just take no action on it. We try hard not to prejudge at the Town Office."

Selectmen's comments were brief.

Dennis Doyon expressed concern about "additional restrictions placed all over."

"I didn't like it," said Bob Everett.

Don Bennett said he had not read the description thoroughly.

The board voted 3-1 to take no action. Bennett voted in opposition, noting only that he had not "done his homework" on the request.

AVCOG reaction

Lea said Tuesday that while it would have been nice to have Bethel's support, "it's going to be a community project, not a town project."

He said AVCOG serves as a facilitator for those interested in the project. The group works through building consensus, he said.

At this point, said Lea, he does not expect the wholehearted support of a large number of people because they may not yet understand what is involved.

Robin Zinchuk, executive director of the Bethel Area Chamber of Commerce, has worked with Lea on the center concept.

She said other possible features of the center might include displays of local craftsmen's works and other business information, as well as interpretive displays by the White Mountain National Forest, which recently closed its visitor's center here.

A feasibility study would also likely include research into partners for the project, Zinchuk said.

A center could potentially be combined with a business project, such as condominiums, she said.

"We haven't taken anything off the table," Zinchuk said.

Lea said the grant application has already been submitted. He expects a response in May.

SAD44

the scenarios were presented to the board.

Holding the line, said Murphy, would have meant double-digit increases in the local share to several towns.

Reduction scenarios

The other two scenarios call for cutting the budget.

One of those options would mean a reduction of $187,844.

Possible cuts floated to the board include: the 4 p.m. late bus run ($7,800); contracted services and teacher-leader positions ($15,000); 1.5 teaching positions ($67,000); one secretarial position ($35,000); and up to $63,000 from budget line items.

The cuts would still translate to the following percent increases in individual town shares of the budget: Andover, 1.16 percent ($4,978); Bethel, 8.72 percent ($186,494); Greenwood 10.79 percent ($76,445); Newry 8.32 percent ($166,593); and Woodstock 6.77 percent ($58,780).

The second scenario calls for a reduction of $495,842. Possible cuts include: all items listed above, plus four teaching positions ($180,000); two educational technician positions ($52,000); one transportation position ($17,000); Capital Improvement accounts ($15,500); one bus run and driver ($8,500); and additional line item cuts of $35,000.

The effect on increases to the towns: Andover -3.53 percent ($15,157); Bethel 3.69 percent ($78,820); Greenwood 5.66 percent ($40,101); Newry 3.30 percent ($66,104); Woodstock 1.82 percent ($15,822).

"Normally, you're talking about increases to the taxpayers when your budget goes up," said Murphy. "We're talking about increases to our taxpayers when our budget goes down."

He described the possible reductions as "fluid," and said that changes might be made by the Finance Committee.

More-solid proposals will be presented at the board's next meeting on April 27.

Andover director Sid Pew asked that the financial impacts on the towns be presented in terms of the effect on the mill rates.

"The District Exchange is seeing a huge increase in the amount of business it's getting now," said Murphy.

On Tuesday, Murphy elaborated on any decision-making process regarding the building's future.

If the board were to decide on closure, he said, "any cuts associated with it would likely come out of line items in the budget."

"For example, closing the building would not necessarily be the same as turning the building back to the town, so cuts might include just the savings of some of the utilities. Other options could result in different levels of reductions."

"The conversations around such an issue would be long and complicated with regard to potential other uses of the facility for school purposes, etc. or other options that the district would want to consider."

"My hope was to complete a facilities study this year which would engage in a review of all district facilities. Unfortunately, with the consolidation issue consuming most of our time, that has not yet happened."

"Ideally, any decisions about EBS or any other building would be part of a well-thought-out district facilities plan that addressed the long-term needs of the district."

The Way I See It

by Sharon Bouchard

The weatherman is predicting warmer temperatures each day and we might even see some 60+ degree days. That should help a great deal in melting the remaining clumps of filthy, dirty snow, not to mention reduce the amount of oil we use to heat our homes.

This is the time of year I love. Feeling the warmth of the sun on my face just makes me feel more alive. And, believe me when I say I need to feel a lot livelier if I have any hopes of tackling the spring cleaning.

I can't even remember how many springs have come and gone since I've done a real spring cleaning that includes washing woodwork, cleaning cupboards and drawers and washing curtains and windows. Come to think of it, I'm not sure I've ever done that type of spring-cleaning. I know there are people who do this, sometimes even twice a year, but once a century is enough for me.

When I do it, which admittedly isn't often, it consists of dusting, floor washing and moving piles of junk from one spot to another.

This year is going to be different. This year I'm going to wage a war against the dirt. This year I'm going to attack the dust bunnies with military precision. This year the junk and clutter goes!

I have a really hard time casting out junk, though buying junk at yard and rummage sales seems to be my specialty. I always think I know what I'm going to do with the various items I bring home, but what I usually do is move this stuff from one spot to another when company is coming and call it cleaning.

Rarely do I end up finding a good use for all the treasures that I think I can't live without.

Rarely do I end up finding a good use for all the treasures that I think I can't live without. Now they really have to go and not just to another corner of the house.

At one time I thought I'd make a killing selling this stuff on eBay, so I bought even more of it to sell. Let me just say that was a lot more bother than it was worth and didn't add a penny to my retirement fund.

Then I thought I'd have a yard sale and let my neighbors buy my junk. My kids even got involved and tried to sell their junk too. All that accomplished was to waste a perfectly good weekend and I ended up with my kid's junk to boot!

This year I'm really getting rid of it. The kids can take their junk back home and the rest is trash.

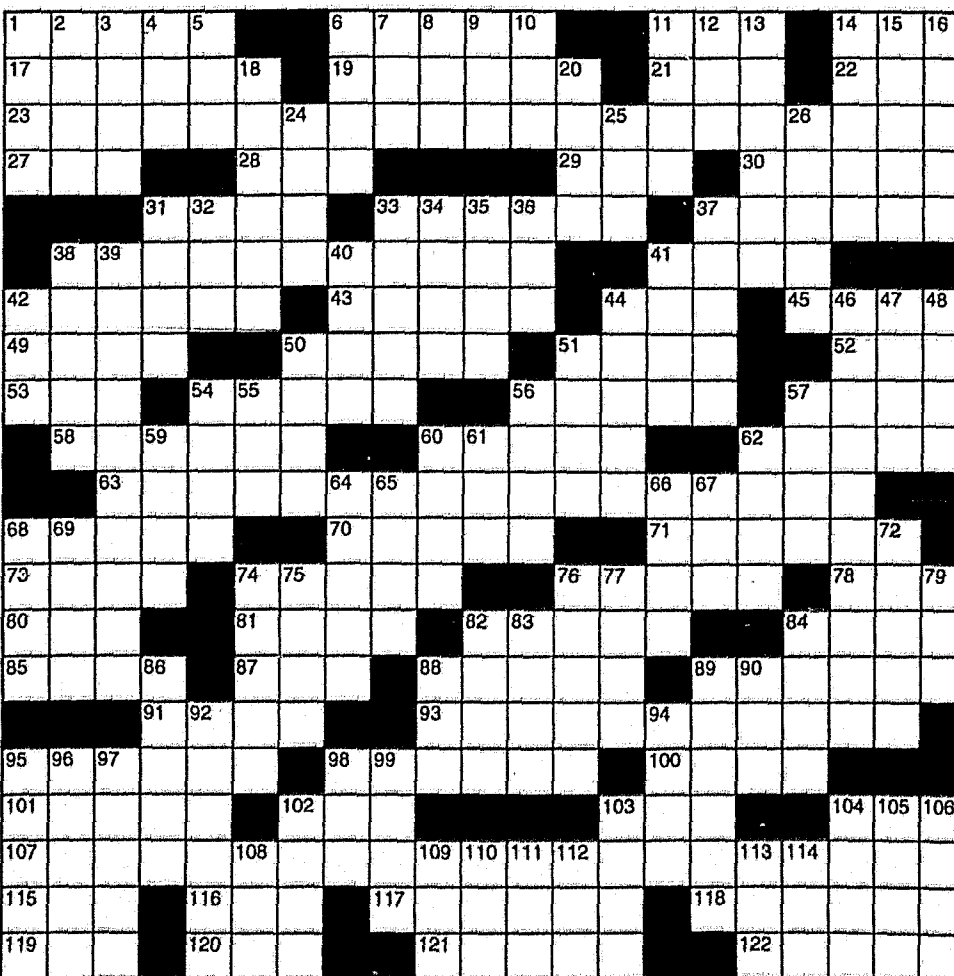

My motivation is stimulated in part because I'm tired of having a cluttered, dirty house, but mostly because I have a beautiful newly decorated living room and the rest of the house looks like crap.

During the winter a fire hose that ran by my house to douse a nearby fire, split and doused my house instead, causing huge damage to my living room. It has now been repaired, repainted and the hardwood floor refinished to a mirror finish. It's like something out of House Beautiful. I don't even want to go in it for fear of tracking dirt from the other parts of my house that look like House Yucky.

That's going to change. The deep cleaning is going to begin. With the warmer weather I can open the windows and let the stale air out and the sweet spring air in.

I now have a truly beautiful living room and the way I see it with some hard work and massive trash removal the rest of the house will be beautiful too. Oh, but wait...there's a rummage sale going on this weekend and I bet I can find some really nice stuff to decorate my soon-to-be-beautiful house. I guess I better hold off on that spring cleaning.

not terribly reluctant) braun-meister from the Sunday Riv-

"And it all adds up, writes Tom Remington in his MaineOutdoorsToday blog, to a "spectacular" adventure.
"Creativity begins with the "title itself and never quits through 70 minutes of fun and adventure," Remington writes.
"Davidson and crew have captured the thrill that drives all avid fishermen, through unique shots, camera angles and the presentation of one-of-a-kind characters, all in some of the finest fishing waters in North America."
But then Remington admits
he might be a bit biased.
He and his wife, Melinda, also lived in Bethel for many years, where Tom helped coach soccer, baseball and alpine skiing at Telstar.
"Little did I know at the time, some 15 or so years ago, that Carter Davidson would find his passion behind the lens of a camera, that Nate Harvey would be navigating some of the most exciting white water in his kayak, or that the Percival girls loved fly fishing and Mitch Cummings would be the master of landing the big one."
Before screening ExNE, Remington told The Citizen,

he also did not know Mitch Cummings, the son of an old friend, was in a movie.
"His dad, the late Greg Cummings, and I put in a lot of hours in our younger days fishing and hunting. It was so sad and difficult to attend Greg's funeral.
"I know how much Greg loved to fish and hunt and to see Mitch appear yarding on that fly rod just flooded me with years of memories, all good!"
Rocky Freda of Newry, a Registered Maine Guide, said of ExNE: "They say when people have a passion for what they do it not only shines through in their lives but their work as well. This film is a great example of such passion."
Remington's complete review, along with the ExNE

price it charges for business internet accounts.
"The price for business Internet is ridiculous -- 70 bucks," said Selectman Bob Everett. "And they can only do it because they're a monopoly."
Citing the buried-line problems, Selectman Dennis Doy-on said, "let's support Time Warner to the fullest extent."
"No" in Newry
But it was a very different message up the line in Newry.
In this case the issue was cable service Time Warner provides in built-up parts of the town, but fails to provide elsewhere.
"They're always quick to cable condominiums," Select-board Chair Steve Wight said,
"but we've spent all kinds of time and money" trying to get that service extended.
Selectman Jim Largess

agreed, saying the request was "an opportunity for us to take a small stand. ... to tell them we'll support this -- when the rest of the town has cable."
"Wicked nice," but ...
There was general agreement that Time Warner's contact person with the town, Government Affairs Manager (ME/NH) was, in the words of Town Administrator Retta
Powers, "wicked nice."
But also that her company has repeatedly failed to follow through on commitments.
And, noted Wight, "She's paid to be nice."
Time Warner's request, to have the rural exemption waived is still in the data collection and discovery phase,
an MPUC spokesman said Wednesday, and a public hearing on the matter has not yet been scheduled.

West Bethel

by Lorrie Hoeh

As I write this, I can hear a phoebe singing his or her heart out just outside the window. This, despite winter temperatures and cold winds blowing. I hung out some laundry Monday morning for the first time since last fall and got pretty chilly doing it. But things do smell so good when dried in fresh air and sunshine.

Our bird population continues to grow in numbers and interest. Last Friday we even had a male evening grosbeak eating sunflower seeds for a few minutes. Also in evidence were purple finches, pine siskins, and redpolls, at last. As a reminder that Mother Nature is not always kind, there was a pile of feathers out back, probably the result of a dove-hawk encounter. That's life.

Speaking of last Friday, it was the occasion of Jane Hosterman's 86th birthday. Now that deserves a resounding Happy Birthday! Best wishes to Jane, and may she have many happy returns of the day.

Last Saturday evening we drove to Hebron Academy's Sargent Auditorium for a concert of vocal music. The opening numbers were sung by Hebron's own Heebeegees, a coed, a cappella ensemble of about 20 Hebron students. This was followed by the Mount Blue Voices, a 15-member, coed, a cappella group from Mount Blue High School. Our granddaughter, Louisa Stancioff, is a freshman member of the group, which is what drew us to the event.

The Voices entertained us with vintage music, ranging from "Blue Moon," composed in 1934 (my birth year!), to rock and roll tunes, and a very special arrangement of "Imagine," one of John Lennon's compositions. After the intermission, the M.I.T. Log-rhythms were the featured performers. This group of young men were energetic, talented, and very entertaining. Their joie de vivre really came out in the singing and choreography of their program. All in all, a delightful evening's amusement. Easter morning dawned bright, clear, and very cold and windy. The sunrise service of the West Bethel Community Church was short and sweet as about 25 or so well-bundled-up parishioners gathered behind Ina and Rupert Grover's home for the occasion. Afterward all enjoyed a potluck breakfast at the church. At least one member was heard to say that she ate too much — which is very easy to do at a potluck.

The regular Easter service at 9 in the sanctuary was conducted before a packed church. Easter is one of those upbeat holidays that really speaks to hope and optimism, both of which are needed for the times we're experiencing.

We had Easter dinner with cousins Eric and Lucia Schwarz over on Skillings Road in Bethel. Their son, Peter, with his wife, Kathy, and son, Nick, were there also. Completing the party were our daughter, Martha Siegel, Kirk, and their children, Molly and Andrew. It was a lovely evening of food, family stories, and even an egg hunt for those under 40.

Sun has been predicted for most of this week, which is a welcome change from the gray, cloudy days we've been having too many of. Now if the air would just warm up a bit. We do have one lone crocus in bloom and the promise of daffodils before long. Be in touch with your news: dhoeh@megalink.net; 836-3011.

Gilead

by Lin Chapman

Easter Sunday was a bright, sunny day but cold and windy.

Throughout the day there were even snow flurries. This did not stop the Easter Bunny from showing up bright and early at the picnic area in Gilead with some helpers.

Beverly Corriveau worked closely with the Easter Bunny and notified the area children that there would be lots of Easter eggs to look for. The children arrived at 10 a.m. and within a half hour they ran around and found all the eggs.

My brother, Steve McLain, stopped by the house last Saturday and helped Hugh fix the tire on the wheelbarrow so the yard work could get done, if the weather ever warms up enough.

Steve and Lise McLain attended Easter dinner at Lee and Jennifer Norris' home this past Sunday. Also attending were Jennifer's brother and wife, Jarrod and Paige Crockett, and Gerard Dupont, who is Lise and Aline's father. Jennifer is the daughter of Aline Dupont, who was also present.

Norm Buttrick and Cathy McGuire were at their place on the Bog Road this past weekend. They entertained members of their family for Easter Dinner and an Easter egg hunt. Those present were Matt and Lisa McGuire and their son, Jason.

Gilead Historical Society
This past weekend, Norm Buttrick arrived with his transit and other related items and surveyed the site for the Gilead Schoolhouse with the help of Hugh Chapman. Richard Saunders also stopped by and gave them a hand.

Newry

This week the first eastern phoebe showed up near the woodshed. I do believe Sandee Dunn and I saw an immature bald eagle flying over the Branch Road and Bear River. The wingspan was immense. It flew over the house looking for birds and ground critters making lovely swoops and turns in the air. There was very little wind current on Sunday.

I have always liked airplanes and often think some of the fast, low-flying planes might one day go right through the roof of the house. This past weekend a huge plane with regular engines flew over and up the corridor that they take when flying past the house, it was pretty low as well.

Mark made a delicious Easter dinner for us and sent home enough for my night meal.

On my way home I drove up to Gil Seeley's and went in for a short visit. It was good to see a very dear friend and someone I have always enjoyed being with.

Karlene Bachelder and Tracy Bennett of Bethel drove to Karlene's daughter's home in Sanford Easter Sunday. At Claire and George Romano's home were her grandchildren, Heidi and Julia Littlefield and Michele and Nick Josephson from Cumberland.

Claire and Cassidy Webster have sold some of the home-grown chicken eggs for sale only during the month of April. Give them a call at 824-2327 if you are interested. The price is $3 per dozen. Debbie told me they now have a popcorn machine at the Trading Post and hopes readers will stop by and try some. Now that fishing season is here lots of the gear to fish with is available at the Post as well. Licenses and registrations for ATVs are also available.

Andover

by Melinda Averill

Hello Andover friends. The Easter Egg Hunt on Saturday drew out a lot of people. I think because it was a sunny morning, and there wasn't any snow this year for the little ones to trudge through. Over 60 kids participated.

Jordan Putnam from Charleston, S.C., was recently in town visiting his grandmother, Paula Smith. His friends, Blake Honeycutt, Lindsey Lee and Chris Nadeau, all from North Carolina, were here with him to enjoy snowboarding, skiing and Wyman Hill sledding. Jordan helped his grandmother tap maple trees on "the hill."

Town Office
There is an opening on the Planning Board; if interested contact the office. Anybody interested in taking the piano at the town hall let the selectman know.

Also a heads up to those in town who have put on additions at their property, etc. If you have had a building permit granted, the town's assessor, Rob Stevens, will be in town to look at these properties.

April vacation begins next week.

Celebrating a birthday this week: Joshua Crosby, today; Madison Papanou on the 22nd, and Amanda Wentzell on the 22nd.

Andrea Savitz, president of Andover Service Circle (ASC), asked me to remind everyone that the 7th annual Senior Appreciation Dinner will be held on this coming Monday, April 20. The doors at Andover Town Hall will open for the event at 4 p.m., with plans to serve a choice of lasagna or pot pie to the Circle's guests at 4:30 p.m., followed by dessert.

This dinner is a gift to those residents in the community who have reached the age of 65 years or who are disabled. Each person attending may bring a guest. Those who wish to attend are respectfully asked to telephone ASC member Judy Michaud at 392-1221. Judy will be keeping a count of those intending to come, so that members of the Circle know how much food to prepare.

Welcome to new business Becky's Crafts! Becky Freeman has opened up her new craft shop on Cross Roads beside of her home. She has lots of different homemade crafts, her special tin-men, knitted mittens, hats, etc. Her hours are Wednesday through Saturday 9 a.m. until 5 p.m. She invites you to stop by.

Peggy Madigan spent a week in Chicago visiting with her son, Bob and Rachael and granddaughter, Joslyn, before they move to Reno, Nev. Bob will start his new radio job on Monday (the station is called K-Bull yeehaw, country western). While there she also went to Lafayette to visit with her daughter, Suzann, son-in-law, Bryan and granddaughter, Elly.

Enjoy your weekend.

Hanover

by Clem Worcester

Upcoming events next week will be the Hanover Select Board meeting on Tuesday, April 21, at the Hanover Town Office. On Wednesday, April 22 the Comprehensive Plan Committee will meet at the Town Office. Both meetings will begin at 6 p.m.

The Comprehensive Plan Committee is hoping the Select Board and Planning Board will attend this meeting to present ideas for Hanover's future during the next 10 years. A reminder: The Rumford Grange 15 is having a yard sale on Saturday, April 25, at Rumford Center Grange Hall from 9 a.m. to 2 p.m. Anyone with questions or donations may call Vicki at 364-2129.

The Rumford Point Community Athletic Association concluded their baseball program signups on April 14. Anyone with questions should contact Dean and Janina Gross.

Several lots have recently been sold in the Hanover Pines Subdivision off Route 2. At least one purchaser is actively proceeding with plans to build a house.

Easter Sunday passed by quietly with relatives joining each other for celebrations of the day. As near as we could ascertain while driving across much of Maine, the day in Hanover was about the same as in any other town in the state.

Thank goodness for the free table at the Tri-Town Solid Waste and Recycle Center in Bethel. One day some caring person left an item there and one old fellow who had always wanted such an item as a child spotted it, snatched it, took it home and refurbished it. And Alah! — What he always wanted, he now had!

Carrie Adams, 13, daughter of Peter and Elizabeth Adams of Yarmouth and Howard Pond in Hanover, was a member of a group of 30 students and their parents from the Southern Maine Biathlon Club who were recently in Fort Kent to watch the U.S. National Biathlon Championships and North American Biathlon Cup races. The club members also participated in a citizens' race and rifle instruction.

A special treat for the youngsters was the rare chance to meet their sports idols. The biathletes took time off from their own training schedules to provide some one-on-one training tips and pointers for their enthusiastic young fans.

What time is it? Just got to stop working after midnight.

A FIVE-DECADE TRADITION—Kids from Andover gathered Saturday morning at Mills Market for the annual Easter Egg Hunt sponsored by the store. Roger Mills' father started the event more than 50 years ago. This year, 120 eggs were hidden around the village, with the hunt areas laid out by age groups. Children were limited to two eggs each. Upon returning the eggs to organizers, the kids received a dollar for each one found. Left, searchers and their parents listen to instructions before the hunt begins. Above, Keagan and Olivia Pitcher turn in eggs they found. Below, Mills and his wife, Dorothy.

bought an inexpensive laptop computer, which I plan to take on our next trip. As my Norton Internet Security purchase confirmation page stated that it was good for up to three computers, I tried to install it on my new laptop. Admittedly, I am no computer whiz, but when I spent two hours failing to get the program downloaded to the new computer and another two hours on the phone to "tech support," which resulted only in a 30-day "trial version of my new virus protection program," I was frustrated. After a two-day "cooling off period," I again phoned tech support and finally got a knowledgeable person who resolved my problem in about five minutes. Whew!

Easter Sunday dawned clear and cold on our hill in Mason. As the congregation of the West Bethel Church assembled on the lawn of the Rupert and Ina Grover farm, the temperature hovered near 20 degrees, and a cold wind whipped in from the northwest. Minister John Williams read from the Gospel, and Dan Grover lighted a candle that flickered just momentarily before a gust of wind extinguished it. The rising sun formed the shape of a brilliant cross as it flashed between layers of low-horizon clouds.

Sunday afternoon when I checked our e-mail, I found a message from our insurance company in another state titled, "USAA Confirmation. Form."

We conduct fairly frequent correspondence with this company because we also have a credit card with them, so I was not suspicious. When I attempted to open the message, a large red-bordered box appeared on the screen: "Fraudulent Web Page; Blocked!"

Next day, I contacted the USAA fraud division, and the man there confirmed that it was indeed a fraudulent site, "phishing" to get my identifying information. Thank goodness for Norton Internet Security!"

Greenwood City

by Wayne Hakala

I can't think of a better Easter Sunday. A true American has been rescued from his captives and is safe tonight. We owe the Navy a salute and "well done."

We had a wonderful day with our extended family in Mechanic Falls. We all met at Roscoe's Rockin' Railroad buffet. Course you know I had to try everything. A few things twice or more and enjoyed every second of it. Wicked good! Shawn wouldn't share his sundae so I had to make my own.

Saturday morning, a number of the Legionnaires met to do some maintenance at the post. We took out the Smoke Eaters, replaced some ceiling tiles, tidied up some of the hanging monitor wires, and planned another project. Hopefully some of this work is going to save on heating and cooling costs. Plus make the hall more attractive to everyone.

Then the Sox are in need of a boost to the rear-end for a jump start. They seem to put hitters on base and then leave them just like stink on the pasture ground. Maybe if we start talking to them Sox via long distance thoughts they will come around.

Betsy Foster brought two flags into the Legion last week. Betsy told me of some interesting and amusing stories of her father's life in the Air Force. And we talked of the Land Use Ordinance for a few minutes. We both agree that Greenwood will be better for the rewrite.

Under great strain, arm twisting, threats of no food and the cold shoulder, I signed the state income tax. Anita thinks we need to send the check to Taxgusta. I would like to think that the check will be set aside in a fund to rebuild the section of Route 219 called "Dugout." But of course, since no one of importance drives that section on a daily basis, there will be little chance of it. I expect the check will get filtered through a process and never surface again. Though if it was to be set in the DOT fund for Region Three, it would have to be earmarked to be saved and sent to other regions to be spent on some useful projects.

The ice is about gone in the several ponds. Brother is anxious to get the boat in the water. But first he has to finish his remodeling project. And he sure hates to spend the money on what he needs. I'm sure that once the weather decides to warm up on a regular basis, Ray will get on the stick and fly!

Really spring must be close. The Canada geese are honking with enthusiasm, the ducks are bobbing along and a blue heron was seen along the channel. Also saw one across from the Legion on Saturday. And if it was to warm up, the peepers just might start serenading us in the evening with a chorus. Come on spring!

East Andover resident Robert Swain has donated two very interesting DVDs to the Andover Public Library. One is an interview with him discussing his experiences during World War Two, and the other is an interview with Norma Farrington about his life in East Andover. Good job, Robert and Norma.

Assessor Robert Stevens will be visiting in the area during the next few weeks to look over all property changes made between April 1, 2008 and April 1, 2009. If you have had work done on your property during the last year and you happen to see a stranger checking it out, don't be afraid, he is a very nice guy.

The Andover Planning Board is looking for a new member. You can call the Town Office if you are interested.

There is a very old piano at the Town Hall that needs a new home. If you are interested, please call the Town Office at 392-3302 during regular business hours for more information.

East Andover resident Teddy Conrad is at home recovering from surgery. Cards would be nice.

I want to thank the "Queen of Cole Slaw" Bette Davis, for her delicious donation to our Easter Dinner. It was wonderful Bette, and I did share with my mother.

The Historical Society Museum has many shelves downstairs with photos and artifacts on them and tables upstairs with tools and collectibles.

There is a small storage space upstairs but otherwise the exhibits are out in full view.

The museum has grown naturally over the years with fresh exhibits coming in gradually.

They are fortunate not to have constraints on their arrangement. There are labels on some items but generally have the guides answer visitor's questions. Similar exhibits are normally clustered together.

Books are arranged alphabetically by the last name of the author except for recent arrivals.

It presents programs and research reports at its monthly meetings. It also starts each meeting with a potluck supper at 6 p.m. Each supper is

Each tried to consume five hamburgers with all the fixings—for a total weight of 5 pounds—in 30 minutes. As the clock (foreground) ticked off the time, the two chowed down their first burgers. At the end of the half-hour, both men were about halfway through. They then enlisted the appetites of friends to finish off the burgers. The days are growing longer with more sun. The temperature is still on the chilly side but it is more pleasant for our early morning walks. Hopefully we have seen the last of the snow and ice.

At the West Paris Universalist Church on April 19 the Rev. Glen Turner will be the guest minister for the 9 a.m. service. Jim Burke is the organist. A social coffee hour follows.

On Friday, April 24, all present and past members and friends of the Universalist Church are invited for a potluck supper at the church at 5:30.

This will be followed by a discussion of ideas and feelings about the present and future of the church, which has been a part of this community for over one hundred years.

Several entertained friends and relatives for Easter dinner. Stacy and Larry Corbett, Darcy Robertson and Nick Payson were with Vince and Beverly Stevens.

Dede Chase and Rachel and Nester Ruokolainen were in Hartford with Lisa and Ron Darling.

Pete and Angie Morrison with daughter Kelsey were also there.

Maxine Cram joined George and Helen McKay in North Norway.

Ruth Hazelton met her son, Dennis and wife Judy and granddaughter Amanda Hazelton of Lisbon and enjoyed dinner in Lewiston.

Margaret Lamb and husband Mike Seaton and Kenneth Lamb were with Joyce Lamb for their ham dinner.

Muffin did not enjoy the dog, Mazie, visiting for the day.

Albany

by Sheila Dyke

Greetings and hello from Albany Township. Well, despite the chill weather and blustering winds, it truly is spring.

We hope everyone had an enjoyable Easter Sunday this past weekend. We had a great time with the boys, coloring Easter eggs on Saturday and then having them find them Sunday morning. It's a tradition we started when Dyana was a baby, and we haven't missed an Easter weekend yet.

Best wishes for a happy and safe week. God bless and keep.

Welcome to winter in April. The sun has been shining, but with the strong winds blowing, it feels more like February than April. This too shall pass.

Due to circumstances beyond my control, I missed the Passover Seder. I was really looking forward to it and had made up a large batch of Matzo Meal Pudding. It was/is quite good. But we got home too late and I knew I would not make it up the hill in time and I hate to arrive late. Now I am eating matzos, although Passover is almost over until another year. Easter too has come and gone. So can someone please explain to me what bunnies and colored eggs have to do with the resurrection of Christ? Personally, I think they are an adaptation of pagan rituals, rabbits and eggs both being signs of fertility. What better to celebrate the end of winter with than the celebration of fertility; what better rite of spring could their be?

Congratulations go out to Kelly Wells, owner of Kelly's Closet for their eighth (8) year anniversary. Kelly's Closet sells upscale cloth diapers. What better way to recycle than to use cloth diapers instead of filling the landfills with paper diapers and human refuse. The initial outlay may seem pricey, but when you figure how many paper diapers a baby goes through, it is actually the least expensive way to go. Great job, Kelly!

Thursday at Wilkins House the monthly Community Supper will take place. All are welcome. Just bring a pot to share and enjoy a great time.

Next week, on Tuesday, April 21, at Waterford Town Office, 366 Valley Road, from 9:30 a.m. to 2:30 p.m. is AARP driving safety course for those 50 years old or older will be offered. Lunch will be available. The cost is $14. Please register in advance. To do so call Mary Delameter at 583-4490 or Tom Harvey at 597-2331. Sounds like a great idea for us older drivers.

It is great that it is staying light later. It means we can go places after 5 p.m. like the big guys do. I am hoping to do just that.

Don't forget this is National Poetry Month. Mountain Poets will be holding their annual Too Cold For the Porch Celebration at Norway Library on Thursday, April 30 at 7 p.m. All are welcome to come and read poetry or just listen. There is always a good crowd and this year should be no exceptions. FMI please call Rockie at 743-0583.

That will have to be all for this week. Enjoy the spring-like weather, if you can find it.

The turkeys are gone and the deer have stopped coming. The turkeys I will not miss at all. The yard and drive were one big turkey's yard. The ducks and geese have left, or most of them have, as I have not heard quacks and honks down under the bank.

If you have any news, give me a ring at 824-3350. God Bless the Troops.

Oxford County Democrats

Tax Reform will be the subject of an informational meeting, sponsored by the River Valley and Oxford County Democrats on Thursday, April 23, at 6:30 p.m. at the Mexico Town Hall, with House Majority Leader John Piotti of Unity as speaker.

The discussion will focus on LD 1088, An Act To Modernize the Tax Laws and Provide over $75,000,000 to Residents of the State in Tax Relief, a plan to replace Maine's four-tier income tax structure, which has a top tax rate of 8.5 percent, with a flat tax of 6.5 percent. The bill's authors, including Rep. Piotti, predict that with the numerous tax credits built into the proposed system, most Mainers would pay substantially less than 6.5 percent. Reducing the maximum rate of 6.5 percent is estimated to reduce tax revenues by about $160 million. To compensate for the loss in revenue, the bill proposes to increase the meals and lodging taxes from 7 percent to 8.5 percent and includes collecting sales taxes on some items now exempt, ranging from tickets to amusement parks and miniature golf courses to candy purchases and car repairs.

The bill's proponents, including Piotti, identify four main goals for the package: to spur economic development, lower the tax burden for residents, reduce volatility in Maine's revenue collections and to levy fair taxes.

The session is open to the public and is hosted by Rep. Matt Peterson of Rumford. Rep. Sheryl Briggs of Mexico, and Citizens Trade Policy Commission member John Patrick of Rumford.

Rep. Piotti is serving his fourth term in the Maine House of Representatives and his first as House Majority Leader. Rep. Piotti is a past chair of the Taxation Committee, and has worked to bring comprehensive, bipartisan reform of Maine's tax code. As Majority Leader, he continues his work as a consensus builder on the challenges facing Maine, including environmental and conservation issues, healthcare reform, and fiscal policy.

Outside of the Legislature, Rep. Piotti is the executive director of the Maine Farmland Trust, Maine's only statewide land trust focused on farmland. In this role, he oversees the trust's mission to work with landowners, land trusts, farmland preservation groups, and municipalities to identify and preserve valuable agricultural land, so that it will forever remain available for farming.

Piotti is past chair of the Unity College Board of Trustees and was president of Kennebec Valley Council of Governments (KVCOG). He holds three degrees from MIT, in engineering, public policy, and management.

Following the Forum on Tax Reform, there will be an opportunity for River Valley area municipal Democratic Committees to name rep-

Oxford County Soil and Water Conservation District, along with The Nature Conservancy, the Saco River Corridor Commission and the Saco Recreation Council are asking for volunteers to help with their invasive plant species mapping project funded by the Maine Outdoor Heritage Fund in 2006. Volunteers are needed to help gather field data.

A one-day training session in May will be held, date to be determined. Information will be gathered on 10 invasive terrestrial plant species along the Upper Saco River in Oxford County. The training will teach you how to identify and map the invasive species using hand held mapping equipment. Once the training is complete, you can choose to go in the field with a trained leader or break off in your own small group to focus on an area of interest within the boundaries of this project.

This is a very worthwhile project that will get you outdoors and exercising while learning about the invasive species that are prevalent in your area. Invasive plants can alter entire ecosystems when they take over, crowding out native species and forcing the wildlife that depend on them to find other sources of food and shelter. The project will help determine what control efforts are needed.

Healthy Eating on a Budget continues with two more healthy evenings scheduled, The Sudbury Inn on April 23 and S.S. Milton on April 30. Both restaurants have closed reservations.

Rooster's Roadhouse held their healthy evening last Wednesday with 25 diners and all had high praise for the healthy menu. Diners had their choice of pan-seared tilapia fish filet or fire grilled chicken breast each served on wild rice with fresh garden vegetables. They also enjoyed a red pepper hummus appetizer and a tabouli salad. A mixed berry sorbet was served for dessert. As one diner's comment card read: "You have outdone yourself. I loved the menu and the food was delicious. The recipes will be among my favorites."

If you missed any of our healthy eating evenings and would like to have the recipes, we're planning to have them printed in a booklet with the help of the Community Education Department of SAD44. The booklets will be available to WMSC members as a "member benefit." They will also be offered for sale at the WMSC booth on Mollyockett Day.

The Victoria Inn held a "Turkish Dinner" for 50 guests on Wednesday, April 15, and we'll report on that evening next week.

Healthy Eating on a Budget is presented by the To Your Health Committee of WMSC with the collaboration of Bethel Family Health Center, SAD44/Community Education, and Wayne DuPlessis,

An afternoon celebrating the bicentenary of the birth of Abraham Lincoln in 1809 will be held at the Bethel Historical Society's Dr. Moses Mason House meeting room on Saturday, April 18, from 2 to 4 p.m.

Society Executive Director Stanley R. Howe, who has been collecting books and other memorabilia on the U.S. presidency for over thirty-five years, will lead the discussion on Lincoln's relationship with New England and New Englanders. Not only was the 16th President's first vice president, Hannibal Hamlin (also born in 1809) from New England, but a number of his key advisers and close friends hailed from New England. In addition, Lincoln's favorite humorist was a native of Waterford, Maine.

Lincoln traveled to New England on a number of occasions and told humorous stories about New Englanders. A large number of Lincoln biographies and other studies relating to Lincoln will be available for participants to review.

The seminar is open to anyone interested at a nominal fee of $5 for Bethel Historical Society members and $10 for nonmembers. High school and university students may attend without charge. To register, please call the society office at 824-2908 or (800) 824-2910 or send an e-mail to: info@bethelhistorical.org.

With over 1,450 members, the Bethel Historical Society, founded in 1966, is western Maine's largest and most comprehensive full-time historical agency, dedicated to collecting, preserving, and interpreting the regional past for present and future generations. For over 40 years, the society's activities have included lectures, exhibits, special events, heritage festivals, workshops, conferences, school and educational programs, and publications. In 1974, the society acquired the former Broad Street residence of Dr. Moses Mason, which now contains a period house museum, exhibit hall and research library. In 1999, the society opened the O'Neil Robinson House (next door at 10 Broad Street) to the public for an expanded exhibit program, museum shop space, and administrative offices. Through the years, the society's achievements have been recognized by a number of state and national organizations.

From REACH

The Rape Education and Crisis Hotline (REACH), serving Oxford County and the towns of Bridgton and Harrison, is announcing its annual speak out event — "Reaching Out ~ Speaking Out, Sowing the Seeds of Healing from Sexual Assault."

April is Sexual Assault Awareness month and each year REACH offers survivors and their loved ones the opportunity to present or see and hear about all phases of the recovery process — from initial trauma reactions through moving on in their healing journey. All are welcome to attend.

"Reaching Out ~ Speaking Out" takes place on Sunday, April 26, 2009, 2 p.m. at the Christ Episcopal Church, 35 Paris Street, Norway.

The program will also feature:

Arla Patch, artist, writer and teacher, who will present "Spirituality, Creativity and Recovery," based on what she describes as the Nature Fusion Process, and is included in her award-winning book "A Body Story." A visual presentation, Patch will explain the method for healing and personal transformation using creativity.

Beth McIntyre, healing arts coach and survivor advocate, will introduce a new series of workshops that will take place at the REACH office starting in May, entitled "Soul Force — the coming together of beautiful souls to inspire, empower, grow and share together"; a few examples of the workshops include "Love Your Dance of Life," "Humor Me," "Recipe for Dreams," to name just a few.

The Clothesline Project is a visual display of shirts that were designed by survivors of sexual assault and domestic violence and their loved ones. The Project began in Hyannis, Mass., in 1990 and has grown to over 500 nationally and internationally.

The concept was simple — let each woman tell her story in her own unique way, using words and/or artwork to decorate her shirt. Once finished, she would then hang her shirt on the clothesline. This very action serves many purposes. It acts as an educational tool for those who come to view the Clothesline; it becomes a healing tool for anyone who makes a shirt; by hanging the shirt on the line, survivors, friends and family can literally turn their back on some of that pain of their experience and walk away; finally it allows those who are still suffering in silence to understand that they are not alone.

REACH staff and hotline volunteer advocates staff a 24-hour, sexual assault support line (800) 871-7741, which is available to individuals who may have been assaulted recently or some time in the past. REACH offers crisis intervention and support services to victims and survivors, and concerned others, ranging from one-to-one support, to support groups. Services are free and confidential.

Staff and advocates can accompany sexual assault victims to the hospital and provide support to a victim and family through the court process.

Trained REACH educators offer age appropriate safety programs for pre-school through college-aged students and provide community education. REACH also has a lending library on site.

Please contact REACH if you or someone you know is interested in participating as a presenter in the "Reaching Out ~ Speaking Out" event, 743-9777, director@reachmaine.org, or visit their website www.reachmaine.org.

Refreshments will be offered following the program. Please also contact REACH if you would like more information or to register for the Soul Force Workshops.

From Western Maine University and Community College Center

This summer, Western Maine University and Community College Center (WMUCC) will offer university courses in healthcare leading to degrees or certificates in holistic health, medical lab technology, nursing, and more. The courses will be taught online or delivered to the center via interactive television and teleconference from the campuses of the University of Maine System.

Many of the fastest growing occupations are concentrated in the health services field, which is expected to account for one out of every five new jobs created by 2016. As the large cohort of Baby Boomers ages, the need for health workers will continue to increase.

"Hospitals and other healthcare providers are always looking for qualified professionals to work in laboratories, in clinics, and as nurses," said Nikki Abbott, director of WMUCC. "We are pleased to be able to offer excellent quality courses and programs right here in our community."

Registration for the 2009 summer sessions is open and ongoing. To download a flyer listing the healthcare programs and courses available through WMUCC this summer, visit www.learn.maine.edu/southparis. For more information about the center and its services, please call 743-9322.

From McWain Pond Association

The McWain Pond Association (MPA) is offering $300 "mini grants" and free technical assistance to residential property owners in the McWain Pond Watershed to help control erosion that can wash into the pond and cause pollution.

This assistance is made possible by a $42,000 grant MPA received in 2008. The grant, now in its second year, consists of federal money passed through the Maine Department of Environmental Protection (Maine DEP).

Public participation in the grant is voluntary. No regulation or enforcement is involved.

In 2006, MPA volunteers, guided by a technical team, surveyed the watershed for erosion "hot spots" and found 95 problem areas. Many occurred on residential properties scattered throughout the entire watershed, not just along the shoreline. The good news is most sites are small, and are easy and inexpensive to fix.

That's where MPA's residential "mini grants" come in. They are designed to help landowners fix simple problems. The association will pay watershed landowners up to $300 — to be matched 50-50 by the landowner with a contribution of cash, labor or supplies — to apply erosion control measures.

Further, MPA offers free consultation with erosion control professionals to assist landowners put erosion control measures in place.

For example, mini grants might be used to install waterbars across a gravel driveway to divert eroding surface material into a vegetated buffer. Or, perhaps, a mini grant can help cover expenses to construct a gravel trench beneath a steeply-pitched roof so water does not fall on bare soil which might be dislodged and wash into McWain Pond.

The cumulative effect of many small fixes like this can add up to significant protection for McWain Pond's water quality. Maine DEP studies show eroding soil that washes from surrounding land is the chief threat to water quality in Maine lakes and ponds.

Phosphorus, a plant nutrient common on land but naturally limited in lakes attaches to soil particles. When excess phosphorus enters a lake it upsets the natural balance and serves as "junk food" for algae. The algae can bloom in uncontrolled masses and turn a formerly clear lake into a slimy green mess. Algae blooms ruin fishing, swimming and boating and have been shown to reduce lake-area property values.

Long-term water testing by Lakes Environmental Association and MPA indicates McWain Pond is vulnerable to an algae bloom. For this reason, the state of Maine

GOULD ACADEMY

(Excerpted from Gould sports reports)

Boys' J.V. Baseball

Gould 16, Hebron 7; April 11—Gould's junior varsity baseball team opened its season with a 16-7 win over Hebron Academy on Saturday. The win was a real team effort with strong base running, pitching, and defense by the Gould nine. Gould runners stole numerous bases, and put pressure on the Hebron defense with their aggressive base running. Yo Ozasa, Sawyer Barter, Aaron Mason, and Jeb Clarke pitched for Gould. One strength of the Gould pitchers was their control in only allowing two or three walks the entire game.

Boys' Varsity Lacrosse

Gould - 19, St. Dom's 13; April 9—Gould extended their early season undefeated record to 4-0 with a closer-than-expected 19-13 win over St. Dominics. The Huskies came out flat and found themselves in a dogfight for much of the game. Although the Huskies had an 8-2 halftime lead, the Saints scored 7 goals in the 3rd quarter and eventually were down only three before Gould put the game away in the fourth quarter. Once again, the Huskies were led by Max Littlefield '09 who scored 7 goals, Lance Robinson '09 with 6 goals and 2 assists, and Zach Robinson '09 with 4 goals and 3 assists. Other scorers included Morgan Foote '09 (1g) and Max Wales '11 (1 goal, 3 assists). The defensive squad continued to improve under the leadership of Scot Baribeau '09 and goaltender Kyle McGregor '10 who recorded 13 saves in three quarters of action.

Gould 4 North Yarmouth 1; April 10— Gould remained unbeaten after Friday's match against North Yarmouth Academy. The NYA Panthers were desperate to gain even a single game from the singles matches. Dachuan Zhu, Sam Allen, and Derek Nagy overpowered their opponents with precision serving and solid groundstrokes. Kevin Dawson and Jesse Tutor also were victorious with their straight sets victory. Yan Yu and Shuo Yuan Bai played well but their unforced errors added up to NYA's sole win of the match. Swing players Izzy Cohan, Ron Ruiz, and Scot Cameron also played some JV matches and were in the win column as well.

Gould 24, Fryeburg 2; April 11— Gould soundly defeated the Fryeburg. goaltender Shaquille Jones '11 recorded a first-half shut out before being relieved by Kyle McGregor '10 in the second half. Scorers included Lance Robinson '09 (6g, 1a), Zach Robinson '09 (5g, 3a), Max Littlefield '09 (5g, 2a), Joe Johnson '09 (3g, 2a), Morgan Foote '09 (2g), Eddie Mele '10 (1g), Max Wales '11 (1g), and David Wilde '11 (1g).

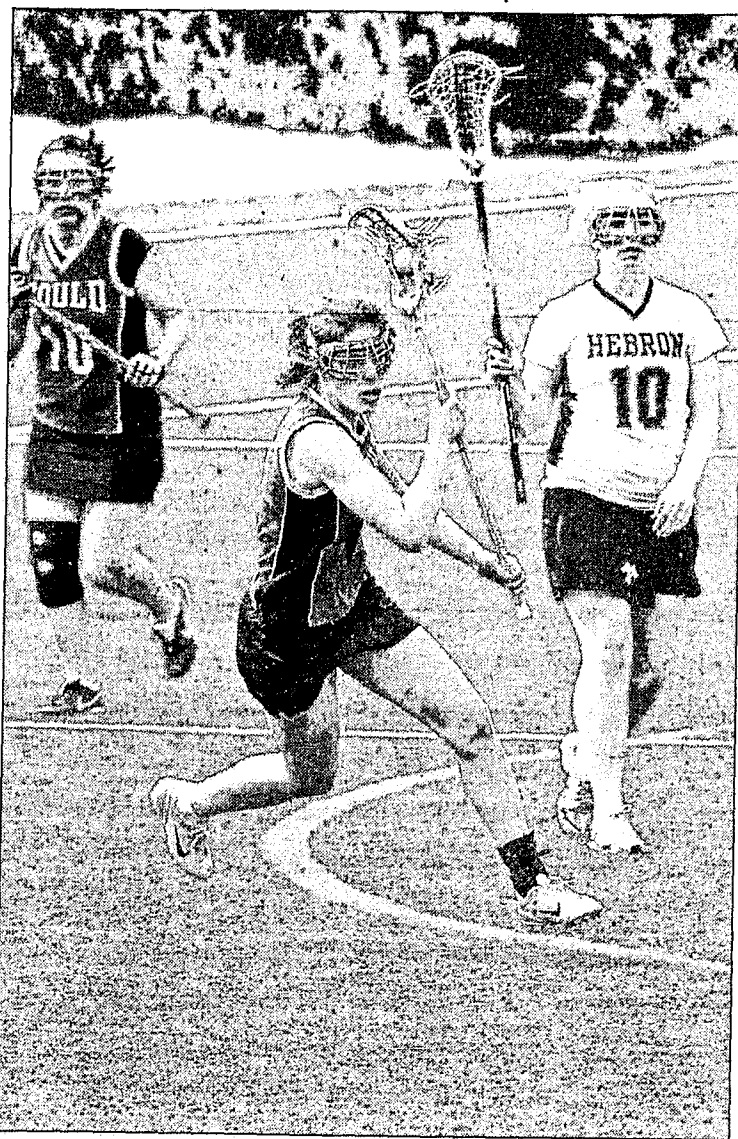

Girls' Varsity Lacrosse

Gould -13, Hebron 14, Gould 13; April 11—The Huskies had a close game on Saturday with the Lumberjacks from Hebron. Gould lost 13-14, but led most of the first half, with Hebron coming back to go ahead in the last two minutes of the half. Gould came back quickly to tie the game and the game was a back and forth battle for the rest of the game. Gould scorers were Caitlin Forbes with 5 goals, 1 assist, Hilary Reis 3 goals, 2 assists, Abbey Gardner 2 goals 2 assists, Carie Hadden 3 goals, and Merritt Harlan with 1 assist. Defense had a good game with strong goalkeeping by Alexia Rho with 13 saves.

Boys' Varsity Tennis

Gould 5, Fryeburg 0; April 4—Gould Academy's men's varsity tennis team is off to a great start with a win over Fryeburg Academy, winning every match. Gould seniors Dachuan Zhu, Sam Allen, and Derek Nagy make the singles lineup the strongest in years and all three players are undefeated. Kevin Dawson and Freshman Jesse Tutor make up Gould's first doubles team and this righty lefty combo will be hard to beat. Junior Shuo Juan Bai and senior Ryan Yu, will play second doubles while sophomore Izzy Cohan will play for both the Varsity and JV teams.

Singles:

1. Kiley Hagerty played a strong match with Sophia Chen of Hebron Academy. They played 6-6 first set, Kiley turned things around in the 12-6 tiebreaker, and won a decisive second set, 6-1.

2. Maggy Reynolds matched Hebron's Alessandra Hankinson with some beautiful long rallies. Maggy's sets were close and she remained calm, focused and determined to win 6-4 and 7-5.

3. Anna Teague matched Tina Horlzer, braving the cold outdoors to win a decisive match: 6-0 and 6-1 sets.

Doubles:

1. "Tutu" Oluibukun Ekpebor and Violeta Borilova warmed up their doubles games, but lost to Ashley Waldron and Polly Drown in a close match: sets were 4-6, 6-2 and a twelve point tiebreaker with 8-12 results, to determine Hebron first doubles as the winners of this match.

2. Gigi DeJoy and Samantha Southam played an exciting second doubles match. Sam Southam hit some fine serves in her first match of the season, while Gigi was commanding her volleys at the net. They also played a close doubles match, with sets: 6-1, 3-6, 4-4 (dinner time called a tiebreaker finish or 7-5).

USASA Snowboarding

USASA National Championships, Copper, Colo.; April 6-10

Nine Riders from the Gould Academy Competition Program full-time team competed in 5 different disciplines, halfpipe, slopestyle, boardercross, slalom and GS. Out of the 20 starts over the 5-day period, Gould riders achieved five top 10 finishes, the most in recent history. With Shea McCarthy taking a 4th in Slalom and a 5th in Boardercross. Other top 10 finishers were Pete Rodway in halfpipe (10th), Conor McCarthy in slalom (9th) Kevin Keough also in slalom (10th). Kevin also brought home the silver in the overall rankings, after competing in all five events. This could have easily been first but for a pretty nasty fall in slopestyle. Other riders at Copper were Robbie Moulton with a respectable 20th in slopestyle. Also competing in slopestyle were Jacob Hall (50th), Cody Martin (23rd) and Kyle Dorfman (45th). The last rider on the team, was freshman Jonathan Scheidegger, a Bethel local who had a great slalom race to place 13th. He also competed in GS and BX, where he had falls that left him near the end of the rank-

MAHOOSUC KIDS

Enrichment opportunities for the children in SAD #44

From the Director

MKA is pleased to announce that we will be open during April vacation week - April 21- 24th from 8:00 am to 4:30 PM. We will celebrate spring by making tie dye t-shirts, hikes, scavenger hunt (around Bethel) and a field trip to Rumford Bowling Lanes on Wednesday. The Summer Adventure dates have been confirmed and the 8-week program will start on Monday, June 22 - and end on Friday Aug 14. Brochures and enrollment forms will be available by May 1 either by calling our office at 824-7007 or visiting our website at www.mahoosuckkids.org. I recently spoke to the Bethel Rotary Club about our new Telstar High School Program and our Summer Quest Program. I was pleased to receive a donation from Rotarian Pat Roma who also is a past president of MKA. I would like to take this opportunity to thank the Bethel Rotary Club for the generous donation to the Mahoosuc Kids Association. It is only with the generosity of our community that Mahoosuc Kids will be able to continue to offer high-quality educational opportunities for the children of the Bethel area.

Telstar High School Students Take Part in Civil War Discussion

Telstar High School students participated in a discussion on Bethel in the Civil War presented by Dr. Stan Howe of the Bethel Historical Society. Students were able to hold real artifacts from the era such as a saw for amputations, tooth pliers and a bullet pulled from a soldier. Thank you Dr. Howe for entertaining stories of local people and the enduring legacy of our Bethel citizens.

included the pond on its list of "Priority Watersheds" for protection. The watershed is all the land that drains water to the pond through tributary streams, ditches, surface runoff or ground water seeps. McWain Pond's watershed sprawls across 3.9 square miles.

Residential mini grants are limited to 10 property owners and will be awarded by the steering committee — which includes representatives from MPA, the town of Waterford, Birch Rock Camp, Camp Waziyatah, Lakes Environmental Association and the Portland Water District — on a first come-first served basis.

In addition to mini-grants, grant funds are also being used to share the costs of fixing the larger, more complicated and expensive erosion problems documented in the watershed survey, for public education and for calculating pollution reduction that results from project erosion control activities.

For more information, contact Tony Butterall, president, McWain Pond Association, 583-2955, or Jeff

Stern, project coordinator, 583-2723.

Funding for this project, in part, was provided by the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency under Section 319 of the Clean Water Act. Section 319 grants are administered by the Maine Department of Environmental Protection in partnership with EPA.

From

Dept. of Inland Fisheries & Wildlife

The same old, tired arguments have been raging for decades around whose responsibility it is to take care of Maine's natural resources. In other words, who should pay? Meanwhile, our natural resources, our heritage, and our beautiful home face enormous challenges to survive.

Sportsmen and women have carried the burden of funding the Department of Inland Fisheries and Wildlife through license fees and registrations. But, like it or not, times have changed. The mission of fish and wildlife agencies has changed as they faced new challenges and responsibilities. Of necessity, they had to evolve along with the rest of society.

Let me be clear: it is no longer about fish and game and sportsmen's rights.

It is not about, and has never been about, mismanagement of the resources. The 300 people who work for the Department have dedicated their lives to the conservation of all that we hold dear.

Management positions in the Department are a fraction of what exists in other agencies, and even the private sector. IF&W has been lean, out of necessity, since its beginnings in the late 1800s. It has never been a top-heavy organization, but without doubt, there are many ways that it can and must improve.

It is now about diminished habitat, fragmentation from development, ecosystem management, and all wildlife, not just game. The mission of IF&W has grown because of state and federal mandates, changes in public awareness, participation in outdoor recreational activities, and local politics. Historically, our management efforts began out of necessity from unchecked hunting pressure.

EAGLE SCOUT HONORED—Rep. Jarrod Crockett (R-Bethel) and Nic Kingsbury stand in the House Chamber on March 26. The Bethel lawmaker and the Legislature honored Nic with a legislative sentiment for his achievement of attaining the high rank and distinction of Eagle Scout. To become an Eagle Scout, Nic earned a total of 51 merit badges (only 21 were required) and served his troop and crew in a variety of leadership roles. Nic is a junior at Telstar High School and resides in Bethel.

Before Buying a Home!
Where do you start when you are ready to buy a home? Before you begin looking for a home, you have to make some decisions. You need to decide what is important to you when purchasing your home. Before starting out on your home search it is a good idea to sit down and develop a list of what is important and what you would like in your new home. Your list could include schools, neighborhood, amenities, number of bedrooms, number of baths, a basement, a separate dining room, 2-story family room or foyer, one level ranch plan, master bedroom on the main level, special financing, seller willing to cover closing costs and the list goes on and on.
An experienced buyer real estate agent can help you through the process. There is no such thing as a perfect house, therefore once you have developed your list you should begin to prioritize it. You can prioritize info, must have, should have and would be nice to have. By having a clear understanding what you want in your new home, and the priority of those items, you will be in a much better position to decide whether you want to put an offer on a house you see and like. It is also a good idea to consider whether you want to purchase a new or pre-owned home.

In Memory Of Terri-Lynn Perry
Oct. 15, 1968 April 19, 1995
With this ink I write the thoughts I have during the night.
The time when the gates are open wide to memories of days gone by.
Of times of laughter and happiness when you were in my arms.
Of growing into a beautiful woman full of grace and charm.
When our thoughts were mingled as one and knowing what each of us would do.
And hoping that all of your dreams would always come through.
But as I see the present, I know you are not here.
The past has taken someone from me that I did hold most dear.
I know you are in a better place where you are happy and free.
For no disease or sickness there, just beauty beyond what we could imagine to see.
No matter what life has still to show me, I just want you to know, you are always here with me wherever I may go.
Love, Mom xxxoxo
